

EVENTS

NONPROFIT CHAMBER

The Nonprofit Chamber of Service held its annual luncheon Jan. 31 at the Hyatt Regency Wichita. The event attracted about 160 people and featured Jonathan Reckford, CEO of Habitat for Humanity International, as its guest speaker. Reckford addressed the gathering on building community and the value of nonprofit collaboration. Habitat for Humanity has built more than 150,000 houses worldwide.

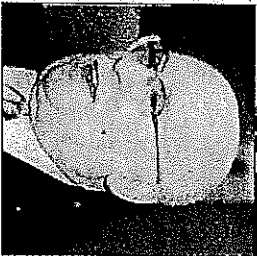

Linda Stewart, left, executive director, Wichita Habitat for Humanity; Tom Winters, Sedgwick County Commissioner.

Perry Schuckman, executive director, Nonprofit Chamber of Service.

From left, Abel Perez, executive director, Wichita Hispanic Chamber of Commerce; David Siebert, manager, Marina Point; Lea McCloud, director of administration, Alternative Gifts International.

Bill Dyar, director, American Diabetes Association-Kansas.

Ron Pasmore, left, president and CEO, KETCH; Janet Valente Page, executive director, Catholic Charities Inc.

PHOTOS BY DAVID DRELL